

www.9alami.info

Test Academic year: 2011 / 2012 Name: .......

Duration: 2 hours Level: 2nd Year Baccalaureate Class: ......

Date: 28 / 10 / 2011 Final Mark ....... / 40

Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone

- It might be difficult to explain laughter to a visitor from another planet. To start with, if we look at it objectively there is something rather odd about the activity itself the repetitive noise, and the strange expressions that accompany it. On top of that, there is something paradoxical about the causes of laughter because if we catalogue the things that we laugh at, they don't seem to be 'funny'at all.
- What are the commonest themes in jokes, cartoons, funny stories, comic films, and so on? Death, accidents and misfortunes. Madness, stupidity, mistakes and misunderstandings. Getting drunk. Divorce and unhappy marriages. Anger and aggression. Oppressive authorities: presidents, kings, queens, policemen, teachers. Surprises and shocks. Human imperfection; the failure of ambition. Unexpected and incongruous events.
- In an old silent comedy film with Chaplin or Keaton, say or in a modern cartoon film about cats and mice, the things that make us laugh would mostly be unpleasant or even tragic if they happened in real life. Perhaps this is the point. Humour, like art and literature, often seems to have the function of helping us to cope with our lives. Since the beginning of history, man has been trying to control his environment, to make it tamer and less threatening. Things we can't control like death, strong emotions, natural disasters frighten us. Loss of control over ourselves is disturbing, so are madness and drunkenness; even stupid mistakes make us feel insecure. Jokes are a way of dealing with the things that frighten us; by putting them in stories or pictures and laughing at them, we are able in a sense to dominate them.
- Perhaps this is why so much humour depends on the unexpected. Our main way of controlling the world is with our intellect by explaining, analysing, putting in categories, and predicting. When as in dreams categories break down, things are not what or where we expect, we can get very disturbed and frightened. If laughter is related to fear, it isn't surprising that so many jokes involve incongruity of some sort, or that almost all 'funny stories' depend for their effect on 'the punchline' an unexpected and funny ending.
- The best humour does is more than just make us feel happy. Humour becomes a weapon: it attacks things that are wrong with us and with society, and perhaps it makes us start thinking about ways to putthem right.
- I COMPREHENSION (15 POINTS)

BASE ALL YOUR ANSWERS ON THE TEXT

A Rewrite these sentences as suggested. (3pts)

	Sentences	Fact	Detail
1	If we catalogue the things that we laugh at, they don't seem to be at all 'funny'.
2	We can't control such things as death, strong emotions and natural disasters.
3	It isn't surprising that so many jokes involve incongruity of some sort.

R	Are the	following	sentences	TRUF or	FAISE?	JUSTIFY.	(3pts)

1 Laughing is easily understandable in itself.

2	Some of the themes that hum
3	The thing that makes a joke h
С	Answer the following question	s. (3pts)
	•
1	What are the two benefits of t
2	How do human beings try to a
D	Find in the text words that med	an the same as tl	ne following. (3 pts)
,
1	absurd, illogical (para 1) strange (para 2)
3	tackle, deal with (para 3)
_
E	What do these words refer to i	n the text? (3pts)
1	itself (para 1)
2	their (para 4)
3	them (para 5)
II	LANGUAGE (15 POINTS)
A	Fill in each blank with the corr	ect form of the w	rord between brackets.	(3pts)
,
1	Modern advertising is charact He was accused of being rati	· -			est of the group to
2	participate in making decision		l	He doesn't dilow the re	est of the group ic
3	He had the (audacious)		to say I was too fat.
В	Put the verbs between bracke	ets into the correc	ct form. (3pts)
1	These days good food (cost) .		a fortune.
2	I'm not used to (eat)	9	so much at lunchtime.
3	Teachers recommend studen	ts (work)	harder	if they want to succeed.
С	Rewrite the following sentence	es using the conn	nectors in brackets. (3pts	s)
1	She was good at physics. She	found it boring. (	(despite)
2	She has written the text. She c			but as well)
3	Some people want to buy the
D	Fill in the blanks with the right
_	biding will me ngill	5. 20. (0013)
	granted	reminiscent	part	outranked	sociable
1	The way he laughed was stror	nalv	of h	is father.

www.9alami.info

•	Match each contones with the right forestion (2-1-)
	Match each sentence with the right function (3pts)
	Sentences		Functions
	1 I don't think so. We won't make it in time.	а	Expressing opinion
	2 In my view, all the work was a waste of time.	b	Expressing agreement
	3 It's terrible. I couldn't agree more.	С	Expressing disagreement
II V	WRITING (10 POINTS)
`	Youth is supposed to be the best period in people's lif	e. However, m	nany of them face a lot of problems t orever	nt them from having a good teenage. Write an essay	in which you l
and try	y to suggest some solutions. (approximately 250 words	;)

www.9alami.info